PART I

INTRODUCTION

Midwives offer comprehensive care during pregnancy, labor and birth and provide postpartum and newborn care as well. In addition, they provide primary healthcare to women throughout the lifespan. Our practice offers homebirth to selected clients. Before you receive your care with us, we want you to be fully informed. We feel quality care and a trusting relationship are best ensured when educated women make decisions regarding their care, based on perceived needs and the provider's scope of practice. A system of informed disclosure and consent fosters parent responsibility and caregiver accountability. We feel this affords optimal protection within the healthcare relationship for all concerned.

THE PROVIDERS - New York State Licensed Midwives

Susan Rannestad has been attending births since the late 1980s. She received her BS degree in Midwifery from the National College of Midwifery. She is certified with two national agencies: The North American Registry of Midwives and The American College of Nurse Midwives and is licensed by the State of New York. Susan is an International Board Certified Lactation Consultant. She has three grown children.

Susanrachel Condon has been attending births since the early 1990s as both a professional labor companion and a licensed midwife in a variety of settings. She holds a Masters Degree in Women's Studies and the History of Ideas. She is a professor of anatomy and physiology and regularly teaches anatomy and physiology of childbearing women in a variety of venues. Susanrachel offers several nationally board-approved post-graduate certification courses in massage therapy for women's health and has written and produced two instructional video programs. She has three children.

HOMEBIRTH

Homebirth midwives provide comprehensive clinical care during pregnancy. The Midwifery Model of Care offers women education and empowerment in all aspects of their care. In labor, surrounded by supportive people of her own choosing in a comfortable and familiar environment, a woman may feel remarkably less inhibited in expressing her natural and individual responses to labor. In addition, when labor and birth occur in the home, there is less interruption of family routines. Laboring women can, according to their own values, choose how to involve their children in the birth experience. Children, making their adjustments to new roles in the family, are not challenged with a lengthy absence of their mothers. Staying home to birth eliminates the difficult decision about when to go to the hospital or birth center during labor. Breastfeeding and family bonding are uninterrupted. Expecting the process of labor and birth to unfold smoothly but educated in prevention and treatment of complications, midwives are ever vigilant but non-interfering. Statistically, fewer complications and unnecessary medical interventions occur in the home.

CARE PROVIDED

We provide prenatal, intrapartum and postpartum care. This includes prenatal blood tests, genetic screening and ultrasounds. We perform an initial newborn examination and routine home visits for women and their babies following birth, in addition to a four or six week postpartum office visit. After birth, when informed consent is given by the parents, vitamin K and erythromycin eye prophylaxis will be given according to New York State law. The newborn screening test for metabolic birth defects may be administered by the midwives or your newborn's health care provider after seven days. It is your responsibility to arrange for pediatric care by the 34th week of your pregnancy. The midwives and their assistants are certified in neonatal resusitation.

SAFETY

We take every reasonable precaution to ensure your safety, comfort and satisfaction. The midwives bring emergency equipment such as oxygen, suction devices and medications to the home. However, this does not render the home equivalent to hospital facilities that have equipment for dealing with some serious problems that may occur. In any birth setting, emergencies can arise. Some unforeseen events may result in an unexpected outcome. The overwhelming belief in our country is that hospitals are the safest place to give birth. Despite the fact that the United States spends more money per capita on medical care than any other industrialized nation in the world, it ranks in the bottom quartile of a list of 29 industrialized nations in both life expectancy and infant mortality and its relative ranking in both these categories has been declining since 1960. Our ranking remains low in spite of a 98-99% hospital birth rate.

In choosing homebirth, you are going against the predominant belief that hospitals are safer regardless of statistical data. When emergencies or poor outcomes occur in a hospital, the site of birth is seldom called into question. If a similar situation occurs at home, however, even if the outcome would have been the same in the hospital, the choice of homebirth is always called into question. The midwives cannot guarantee a normal birth or a healthy mother or baby and acceptance of a client for homebirth in no way constitutes any such guarantee.

A MATTER OF TRUST

It is our philosophy that whenever possible, decisions about your care will be collaborative. However, situations may arise in which the professional judgment of the midwives and/or their collaborating physicians must be relied upon exclusively for the safety of mother and baby. Homebirth enrollment shall be at our discretion. Your records, physical examinations and laboratory reports will continually evaluate your enrollment. Do not hesitate at any time to ask questions about our practice or anything that concerns you, your baby or your family.

FINANCIAL AGREEMENT

The philosophy on which this practice is based is that homebirth should be accessible to all women, within parameters of safety. For this reason we have tried to make our fees reasonable. Our $8000 fee covers all prenatal visits including at least one home visit, care during labor & birth, the assistant fee, and postpartum visits, including care for your baby. Your insurance company may be billed for additional equipment and services. Postpartum care includes attendance for several hours after birth, until mother and baby are deemed stable, up to three home visits within the first week, a two week office visit and a four or six week office visit. Additional consultations and unlimited phone consults are also included. We also provide you with a completed birth certificate registration form to submit to your town hall. In the event of a transfer for medical care during labor, a midwife will accompany you to the hospital and stay with you throughout the remainder of your labor/birth, easing the transition and offering continuity of care. We will then continue being your providers postpartum. Our fee does not include laboratory tests, sonograms, genetic screening, any post due date testing or hospitalizations. Your insurance can be billed directly by those facilities rendering this care. In the event of a medical transfer prior to 36 weeks, a reimbursement of payment for care not rendered may be provided at our discretion.

After your birth, we will furnish our billing service with information to submit to your insurance provider for reimbursement, which usually takes between 8 and 20 weeks. This is submitted after the birth in order to use the all-inclusive, global maternity care fee. Due to the complexity of the medical insurance system and the standard use of global billing for maternity care, we ask that you make your initial deposit at the beginning of care and pay the remainder throughout care to paid in full by 36 weeks. For those who absolutely have no resources from which to pay us the entire fee in advance, we will accept an agreed upon deposit, bill your insurance provider and ask that you pay the balance remaining due the earlier of within 30 days of your six week postpartum visit or 10 weeks following the birth. If you have received care from another provider during your current pregnancy, we will bill your insurance company differently to ensure that our services are covered as well as your policy allows.

Please feel free to ask us any questions. Our intent is to work out the financial arrangements early on in our relationship so we can get on with focusing on your satisfying and empowering pregnancy and birth experience.
